

What is CALiO™?

CALiO™, the Child Abuse Library Online, is a service of National Children's Advocacy Center. CALiO™ is one of the largest professional resource collections available today, providing access to published knowledge, educational materials and resources related to child maltreatment. CALiO™ is freely accessible to anyone with Internet Access and is open to medical professionals, law enforcement personnel, prevention professionals, educators and others who are not associated with a child advocacy center.

You can locate this online library by going to www.calio.org. From this page you have access to over 2,300 full text publications, as well as audio and video presentations through the new keyword searchable, CALiO™Collections. CALiO™ also still provides the individual collections including statistics, Poly-victimization, bibliographies, International, and many more through the Resources dropdown menu.

Within the Beyond CALiO section you have access to 30 open access journals. This section also provides links to over 70 agencies serving victims of child maltreatment and professionals.

The easy to locate login box provides access for registered CAC staff and MDT members to the restricted sections of CALiO™.

Located in the restricted section are CALiO™SuperSearch of three EBSCO databases, 1,500 journals, and CALiO™Collections in one easy to use interface.

Also included are Special Collections of resources that providing quick access to full text of numerous scholarly publications by topic area or researcher.

Access to the Foundation Directory Online is also provided here.

In addition to the large assortment of electronic resources available in CALiO™, a research librarian is available to assist with searches of the literature, bibliographic assistance, article retrieval, and many other services.

The librarian may be contacted by telephone, email, instant chat, and online information request form.

All of these contact points may be found under Ask a Librarian or the Get Help sections. library@nationalcac.org.